CABLE MANAGEMENT G10 RAIL COVERS

COMPATIBLE WITH M-LOK®
TACTICAL RIFLE FORENDS

Hogue Inc. Releases New Cable Management G10 Rail Covers for M-LOK® Forends

Hogue delivers effective G10 solutions in a wide range of sizes to tackle loose forend accessory cables.

Henderson, NV – Hogue Inc. proudly introduces all-new Cable Management G10 Rail Covers to their tactical rifle lineup, specifically designed for M-LOK® forends.

These rail covers are crafted from durable, solid black G10 material with Peel Ply texture, offering exceptional grip while organizing and safeguarding critical accessory cables and cords from snags. The covers also enhance the user's tactile grip and provide insulation from heat, ensuring peak operational performance.

Each rail cover package includes captive Allen mounting screws for secure attachment and are available in extra small, small, medium, and large sizes.

Be part of the revolution in firearm accessories and experience the Hogue advantage. Hogue tactical products are manufactured in the USA in Hogue family-owned and operated facilities. To learn more, please call Hogue directly at (1-800) 438-4747 or visit www.hogueinc.com.
